The first well-known design is Aquion Energy's batteries, which are classified as standard goods with no special handling required in shipment. Aquion Energy's saltwater battery has no life-reducing side reactions while not in use, and it operates without auxiliary loads ...

Aquion Energy is the manufacturer of proprietary Aqueous Hybrid Ion (AHI) batteries and battery systems for long-duration stationary energy storage applications. AHI batteries are optimized for daily deep cycling for residential solar, green architecture, off-grid and microgrid, energy management, and grid-scale applications.

OverviewHistoryTechnologyProductionSee alsoExternal linksAquion Energy was a Bethlehem, Pennsylvania and Washington, D.C.-based company that manufactured sodium ion batteries (salt water batteries) and electricity storage systems. The company claimed to provide a low-cost way to store large amounts of energy (e.g. for an electricity grid) through thousands of battery cycles, and a non-toxic end product made from widely available material inputs and which operates safely and reliably across a wide range of t...

The deep-cycle battery is an excellent and reliable energy source for all types of devices, even powering off-grid homes that require high-capacity battery banks to supply their energy needs.

Aquion Energy has raised $289M. Who are Aquion Energy's investors? Advanced Technology Ventures, Bright-Capital, CapX Partners, Cascade Investment, and ClearSky are 5 of 22 investors who have invested in Aquion Energy.

Aquion Energy is a company that provides energy storage solutions. It manufactures aqueous hybrid ion (AHI) and battery systems for off-grid and microgrids, energy management, and grid-scale energy storage applications.
