Will Kosovo build a battery energy storage system?

The government of Kosovo will build a battery energy storage system (BESS) with a capacity of 200MWh-plus to deal with the energy crisis.

How will a 340 MWh battery storage facility impact Kosovo?

Installing a 340 MWh battery storage facility in Kosovo will positively impact the country's energy sector by reducing the country's dependence on imported electricity, including increased energy security, integration of renewable energy, improved grid stability, reduced energy costs, and environmental benefits.

Where does Kosovo get its power from?

Who owns the energy facilities in Kosovo?

Kosovo* will own the facilities, the ministry added. Economy minister Artane Rizvanolli said the program would back the independence of the national energy system and enable its transformation. The details will be made known after negotiations between the government and MCC, planned for May.

How will Kosovo's Energy System work?

The system will stabilize the fluctuating frequency of electricity, store energy in the early hours of the morning when consumption is low, and connect with solar, wind, or similar power plants. Kosovo* will own the facilities, the ministry added.

What is Kosovo's Energy Strategy?

The energy strategy foresees 170 MW in battery operating power. In addition, procedures are scheduled to be announced in the fourth quarter for a solar power plant of 100 MW for government-controlled power utility Kosovo Energy Corp. (KEK) and a solar thermal system for district heating in Prishtina, according to Rizvanolli.

Kosovo has launched two auctions for BESS projects with a cumulative capacity of 170 MW/340 MWh. The 45 MW/90 MWh and 125 MW/250 MWh battery storage procurement exercises are initiated by the United States acting through Millennium Challenge Corp. (MCC) and Kosovo authorities. In 2022, MMC approved a $202 million grant for these projects.
